

ARE YOU READY FOR GOD'S EMERGING FUTURE?
Workshop Opportunity for Pastors & Church Leaders

The world is changing at lightening speed. No one can predict what ministry will look like 100 or 10 years from now. But there is a treasure of extraordinary power within you and your faith community (2 Cor. 4). Big or small, wherever in the world you're located, your faith community is being called to move confidently, collaboratively, and creatively into God's emerging future.

On December 10, 2009 a dynamic team of trainers from A Renewal Enterprise, Inc. will be leading a one-day workshop at Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia that will help prepare you for God's emerging future.

To register visit <http://www.arenwalenterprise.com/2009-fall-tour.html>.

This workshop is part of a North American tour called "Treasure in Clay Jars: The Renewable Organization™ for Faith-Based Groups." Lunch is included in the $79 registration fee. Participants will receive a copy of the workbook: The Renewable Organization™ for Faith Based Groups. Early-bird registration is $59. The workshop is scheduled for 9-3:30 p.m. Space is limited so sign up today.

This jam-packed, interactive workshop is especially for pastors and professional leaders, congregational and judicatory leaders, and leaders of faith-based organizations. Participants will be introduced to:

1. A renewable framework, grounded in God's mission, that will prepare you to lead your faith community into the emerging future.
2. A new way of being, shaped by seven renewable practices that set you free from the old "command and control" models of leadership, and help you unleash the extraordinary power that dwells within God's people.
3. A new way of seeing that releases you from the prevailing "produce and consume" model of ministry by focusing your eyes on the place where God's purpose, your neighbor's assets and needs, and your own needs and gifts converge.
4. A new way of doing that replaces that stale "strategic plan" with a process strategy that will make you and your faith community more purposeful, resilient, and adaptable.
